Due to the popularity and convenience of fast food, there has been a sharp increase in overweight and obese people especially in the USA. Recognizing this disturbing trend, the US is always researching for effective methods to curb this unhealthy trend. After 10 years of study, US has formulated a natural formula which can effectively lower carbohydrate absorption. It was extensively added in bread to block and overcome the problem of over-absorption of starch. This proved to be an effective slimming method.

4 Major Ingredients & Effects

It inhibits digestion of starch and excretes starch from the body, which in turn reduces secretion of insulin which indicates low conversion of starch to fat, thus diminishing the accumulation of fat.

It reduces conversion of glucose and starch into fat, while elevating amount of serotonin to suppress appetite and desire for food : It is also helpful to inhibit formation/ storage of fat.

It promotes heat production and helps to burn fat (fat elimination) thus increasing fat reduction without reducing lean muscle mass.

It lowers fat assimilation by absorbing and binding dietary fat in the digestive system and excretes them from the body, and thus promoting much leaner and slimmer body.

It blocks out calories from carbohydrate, starch and glucose in our dietary intake, (such as rice, noodles or bread) as well as burns excess fat enabling you to effectively and easily get rid of excess body weight, resulting in a slimmer and healthier body.
