Why do we need functional food?

Functional foods are foods that provide health benefits beyond the provision of essential nutrients to sustain life. In these modern times, many people have hectic lifestyles and limited time to prepare nutritious meals themselves. Eating out regularly isn't a healthy option, as outside food are often nutritionally imbalanced and high in carbohydrates, sugar and fat, which can lead to disease and obesity.

Functional foods can meet our need for nutrient dense, healthy meals. As a 100% natural functional food, BeVité provides various nutrients that our body needs, such as protein, vitamins, minerals, and antioxidants while reducing inflammation to lower the risk of chronic diseases, such as obesity, diabetes, joint pain, etc. Rich in plant-based protein and nutrients, BeVité promotes growth in children, helps adults to build muscle and burn fat effectively, as well as improves their health and vitality.

What is BeVité?

BeVité is an easy-to-drink meal supplement made from a unique concoction of functional foods. Daily consumption provides you with adequate amount of protein and nutrients that your body needs.

BeVité 3 Main Functions

Natural Nutrients

BeVité is an all-natural functional food made from 13 nutritious ingredients and contains 23 essential vitamins and minerals. The main ingredients are isolated soy protein, pea protein, inulin, quinoa, brown rice powder, young growth hormone (YGF251), microencapsulated calcium (LIPOCAL™), immunoglobulin (IgG), branched-chain amino acids (BCAAs), konjac and guar gum. It does not contain added preservatives, colourings, flavourings, lactose, and creamer, and is free from cholesterol, trans-fatty acids, genetically modified ingredients, chemicals, and animal-derived ingredients.

Anti-inflammatory

Studies show that chronic inflammation is associated with heart disease, diabetes, cancer, arthritis, bowel disease and obesity. Immunoglobulin G (IgG) is an immune factor and the main antibody in the body. With age, the body's ability to produce IgG decreases. BeVité contains IgG extracted from Lactobacillus plantarum HK L-137 developed by Professor Ji Kai Taixin from the Kyushu University School of Medicine after 30 years of research. Supplementing with IgG can help to modulate allergic immune responses, reduce inflammation and enhance the ability of your cells to resist bacterial and viral infections.

Increase Muscles and Burn Fat

To achieve a fit body, you need to burn fat and increase your muscle mass. One packet of BeVité provides you with 10.7g of high-quality proteins to promote protein synthesis in your body and increase muscle mass. Increasing your protein intake can increase satiety after meals, boost your metabolism, burn fat, and prevent fluid accumulation in the tissue (edema), as protein is responsible for maintaining fluid balance in the body.
